"Bigger than ever" is getting to be a hackneyed phrase, but it is a great fact.

The present Erosophian Literary Society hall is the Seminar room. Current history and pedagogy will furnish fruitful questions for discussion and research.

Regent Elliott Northcott at a meeting of the Board of Regents in Huntington on Oct. 12 was elected Treasurer to succeed Mr. Robinson, resigned. There were present at this meeting State Supt. Miller and Regents Lough, Bowman and Robinson.

The old auditorium on the third floor is to become two first class literary halls. The literary societies have had handsome homes but these are not only new, but better and bigger. Each will be a fine auditorium with high arched ceilings. Both of these rooms will soon be ready for occupancy.

An effort should be made to organize a few colleges near Marshall into an association for inter-collegiate athletics in which the tendencies which are debasing college sports may be effectually eradicated. For a school to take a stand by itself means that it will continue to stand alone, necessitating a cessation of inter-collegiate games.

The students are to be commended for the stand they have taken in favor of clean athletics. The action is all the more commendable because the rules adopted were not superimposed by the faculty. This is one more instance to show that the great majority of Marshall students are ever willing to do the right thing when they know what the right thing is.

The Parthenon congratulates Regent Ira E. Robinson, of Grafton, upon his appointment to a Supreme Court judgeship. Judge Robinson was a faithful and efficient member of the Normal School Board. He had been a member since the spring of 1901. In 1904 he was elected treasurer of the board when that office was created. The Governor has not yet appointed his successor.

Read every advertisement in this and succeeding issues. These business men are loyal friends to Marshall College. They seek the acquaintance of both teacher and student. They do business on sound business principles. They won't cheat you. They have been friends to the students of former years and they will gladly welcome you and show you every service. Don't forget these stores when you wish to make purchases.

The Parthenon in the beginning of its seventh year as a school paper bids the students and teachers, both old and new, a hearty welcome, wishing them a year of hard, successful and pleasant work. If one were asked to express in one word the most he could say about Marshall, no fitter term could be chosen than "work." No teacher is here for anything else, and if any student came for anything else let him now change his purpose.

Sept. 18 seven new additions were made to the faculty: Dr. C. E. Haworth, Dr. C. H. Saylor, Messrs. R. C. Peck and W. G. Vinal and Misses Olla Stevenson, Ada R. Colbert and Martha J. Hughes. Three resumed work after absences spent in study: Miss Flora Pope after two years in the College of Education of the University of Chicago, Miss Mary E. Sharp after one year in additional piano study, and J. A. Fitzgerald after one year in the graduate school of the University of Chicago.

is the athletic association whose value to student activity has to be tested to be appreciated. Whenever you have an opportunity to mix with your fellow students, do it. Indulge in all these wholesome features and the value of your life here will be largely increased.

The Board of Regents during the summer did all they said they were going to do for Marshall. Consequently, this Fall Marshall College opened its session under circumstances exceedingly auspicious. The work of the school was divided into thirteen different departments and a head elected for each. The necessary assistants were appointed. Five fellowships were created, the holders of these to assist in teaching. The title of the head of the institution was changed from "principal" to "president."

New student, make yourself an active student. Get into touch with the very best there is in school life. Identify yourselves with the student societies. Friday afternoon the literary societies need you and you need them. Sunday afternoon the Christian organizations will enrich your school life. Then there Thinking of changes for the better which are continually being made at Marshall College, suggests the theme of improvement and growth among the persons who constitute a growing school. What marked advances! Have you ever thought of the thrill that a teacher enjoys when he thinks of a young man or young woman, now about to graduate, as he or she was when he first made his entrance into school two or three or four years before. It is as natural a comparison as to think of the growth of a plant. What is school life anyway if not an atmosphere in which growth may be deepened and accelerated? Are you taking full advantage of your chance? Are you growing, or are you going to become a stunted and knarled member of society? Make the days and weeks count. Make your parents, relatives and friends proud of you.

FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

THE OBSERVER

New Quarters.

All summer the contractors were kept busy remodeling the third floor of the new building. What a change! There the music and art departments have handsome homes. The art studio, the finest in the state has a floor space of 45x70 feet, with northern and sky lighting. The music department has 4 studios and 8 practice rooms. The studios are now handsomely furnished. The new furnishings for the art department have not yet arrived.

The Art School.

Professor Myers, head of this department seems to be enjoying his new quarters in the third floor annex. It is a busy room. Visitors are always surprised and pleased at the valuable work being done there. Of particular interest at the present time is the manual training work. The seniors who are pursuing the course as laid down in the 1907 catalogue are giving three hours a week to instruction under Mr. Myers. This work has also been extended to the model school and work is now being displayed which the little boys and girls made with pocket knives. It is creditable, too.

A feature of the new studio will be industrial exhibits presented by some of the leading manufacturing concerns of the city. One has already been received from the Huntington China Company whose works are located on South Sixteenth street. The exhibit consists of fifty-five pieces. It shows every stage of the process from the raw material to the beautiful hand painted product. Thus our students will have an opportunity to study industrial processes and learn much of very practical importance.

The mechanical drawing class meets on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays. This is a feature of work which Marshall has long needed and which will grow rapidly.

Department of Expression.

"Live for something, have a purpose and that purpose keep in view."

This little bit of advice may well be accepted as a motto by every thoughtful student. To several has come the realization that "expression is life." And so, very naturally, the art which enables us to realize our potentialities, which trains bodies, minds and voices to express the best of what we are capable, the art which gives to every individual a greater consciousness of power, a larger comprehension, and a broader sympathy than he has before possessed, this art, so long undervalued, is year by year attracting increasing numbers of students whose aim is self-culture, whose purpose is ever kept in view. We are all students of life. May our ideals be high, may our standards be firm for the true and the natural in our art. May we accept only the best from others, and may we give only the best to others.

There are many new faces in this Department this year.

To you, we of the old ranks say, "Welcome." Considering the fact that our department, in its present form of organized labor, is only one year old, we feel that the interest which is shown this term promises well for the future.

The graduates who will complete six terms of work in June, nineteen hundred and eight are, Goldie Bias, Lulu Cliness, Inez Chambers, May Cokeley, Esther Cundiff.

The beginning class numbers fourteen. There are also several special students enrolled.

You will hear of the Pantomime and Art Dramatic classes later—as you heard of them last year.

Every other Friday all students of the departments meet at four fifteen for a recital period, at which time readings are presented for the criticism of the instructor.

You are cordially invited to attend the recitals and all classes of the department.

Miss White, head of the department of expression is having her studio floor painted and waxed. New furniture has been purchased and with the new shades and curtains will make this room one of artistic appointments. Miss Hayes has already confided to some of her friends that her studio is to be the scene of a "warming." Maybe Miss White will have one, too.

Department of Music.

The Music Department with a greater enrollment than ever before in its history has at last quarters of its own. Miss Hayes studio is one of the finest in the building and with the other studios and practice rooms makes quarters of a first-class character.

The music faculty is now composed of the following members:

Miss Flora Roy Hayes, Piano and Department Head.

Mrs. Pearle Parrott, Voice.

Miss Hazel Heather, Piano.

Miss Mary E. Sharp, Piano.

Mrs. Rose McClintock, Violin.

Mrs. C. E. Haworth, formerly voice teacher substituted in that department until the arrival of Mrs. Parrott.

Miss Rhoda Crumrine who is absent a year to study in Berlin has arrived in the German capital and is now hard at work. She sends best wishes to her friends here and has promised some trip notes for the Parthenon.

THE ADDITIONS TO THE FACULTY

THE INTERVIEWER

W. G. Vinal.

Professor Vinal is a native of Norwell, Massachusetts. There he received his grammar and high school education. In the year 1903 he finished the four years' course at the Bridgewater Normal School. The next year, 1903-1904 he was librarian at the same institution. In 1904 he entered Lawrence Scientific school and in 1906 received from that college his Bachelor of Science degree. The year 1906-1907 was devoted to graduate work in Harvard University which conferred upon him the Master of Arts degree last June. He is now professor of biology and geology in this school.

Charles Henry Saylor.

Dr. Saylor was born in Baltimore, Maryland, where he lived all his life until he accepted the position of head of the Latin department which duties he entered upon Sept. 18. He attended the public schools of that city and received his secondary education at the Baltimore City College, where he graduated in June 1898. He entered Johns Hopkins University in October, 1901. That University granted him the Bachelor of Arts degree in 1904 and the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in June 1907. The subjects upon which he did his graduate work were Greek, Latin and Sanskrit. Thus he was a pupil of that great scholar, Professor Gildersleeve.

Miss Martha J. Hughes.

Miss Hughes, assistant in mathematics, was born in Wheeling, West Virginia, where her home was for twelve years. Her family then removed to Philadelphia. In 1900 they returned to Wheeling and the next autumn Miss Hughes entered Miss Phelps' School for girls in Columbus, Ohio, graduating there in 1902. Then she spent four years at Wellesly College where she received her A. B. degree in 1906. Last year she taught in the Concord State Normal School at Athens.

Miss Ada R. Colbert.

Miss Colbert's home is in Martinsburg where she attended school until she graduated from that city's high school in 1899. A year later she entered West Virginia University and received her A. B. degree in 1904. The year 1904-1905 was spent as a teacher in the Morgantown schools. The Normal School board then appointed her as an instructor at Shepherdstown. The next year she taught at the Glenville Normal School and this fall she became a member of the English faculty at this institution. Miss Colbert and her mother have moved to Huntington.

R. C. Peck.

The new head of the physics and chemistry department was born in Bridgeport, Connecticut. A part of his preparation for college was made at the Vermont Academy at Saxton's River. He finished his secondary work at Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Massachusetts. He entered Yale University in September 1906. He was elected to membership in the Phi Beta Kappa, an honorary society. He specialized in chemistry. After receiving his A. B. degree he taught one year in Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts. Then he returned to Yale for graduate work in physiological chemistry. Having become interested in normal school work he spent two years in New York City teaching in private schools and doing graduate work in Teachers' College, Columbia University. Columbia awarded him the A. M. degree in 1905. For the past two years he was instructor in science in the Coshocton, Ohio, high school.

Miss Olla Stevenson.

Miss Stevenson claims Nebraska as her native state. She was born in Nebraska City, which is still her home, where she was graduated from a private academy. She entered immediately into teaching as instructor in the primary department of the Nebraska City Public Schools where she remained four years. Some years later she entered Northwestern University and was graduated from that institution in 1902. In the fall of the same year she was engaged to teach Mathematics in the Nebraska City High School. The summer of 1903 was spent at the University of Chicago in the study of Gothic and German literature. In 1904 she went abroad to continue the study of the German language, spending two years in Berlin, Germany, attending the University of Berlin and taking private work in phonetics of a specialist. She returned to America last summer to become head of the German department in this school.

C. E. Haworth.

Dr. Haworth is already well known to Marshall students. His appointment as head of the English department has placed upon Marshall's faculty one who was already the school's staunch friend, a man experienced in educational and literary work. He received his college education at Colgate University. There he won his A. B., Ph. B., and A. M. degrees. Then he studied medicine and received the M. D. degree. Dr. Haworth spent four years teaching in academies. For the past few years he has been in the newspaper business as editor and owner of the Huntington Herald. His writing won for him a reputation and since he has retired the work of his pen has been missed. Dr. Haworth was formerly a member of Marshall's local board and he has been for several years a member of the State University Board of Regents, and the Montgomery Preparatory school board of regents. He has also done graduate work in the University of Chicago.

Miss Hazel Heather.

Miss Hazel Heather, first assistant in piano is a graduate of the Galesburg, Illinois, Conservatory of Music. Since graduation she has studied under the best private teachers in Chicago. She is a native of Illinois.

Mrs. Pearle Parrott.

The new voice teacher, Mrs. Pearle Parrott studied under the best vocalists in Washington and New York. Then she went to France and spent two years as a pupil of Marchesi and De Reszke.

ORGANIZATIONS

THE REPORTERS

The Excelsior Club.

For the benefit of those who have not heard of The Excelsior Club, a brief history of the organization is given.

The club was organized in the Fall of 1906. The work was continued, with much success, until the end of the school year. This Fall the work of the club was again taken up. The club is now one of the permanent organizations of the school.

It was decided when we organized that there should be only twelve members. The club meets each Friday evening. One member acts as leader and the remaining eleven are allowed five minutes each to speak on a subject announced by the leader, after the speaker is on the floor.

The first meeting this year was held Sept. 27th. At this meeting new members were chosen to fill the places of those who dropped out last year.

At our last meeting we substituted for the usual program a mock trial which was very interesting to all. The following named persons constitute the club at the present time:

C. C. Miller, J. R. Davis, W. R. Goff, M. F. Smith, L. B. Crotty, J. B. Robinson, G. C. Hamilton, H. P. Tompkins, D. F. Moore, G. L. Hively, R. C. Spangler, J. J. Foster.

Virginian Notes.

The Virginia Literary Society held its first meeting in the session of 1907-08, on Sept. 20. This meeting was for the purpose of installing officers for the fall term.

T. J. Robinson and C. R. Wood were appointed to escort C. A. Wellman, the President, to the chair. The gavel was tendered him with a very appropriate speech by Earl Gerlach, formerly treasurer. The President responded in a very flowery manner, thanking the society for the honor conferred upon him and giving a hearty welcome to all new members.

The other officers installed were: Miss Mae Cliness, vice president; Miss Mary Donaldson, secretary; Max Wilcoxon, treasurer; Miss Florence Holiday, critic; John York, censor.

The programs this term have been excellent, and we feel that our society is going to do greater things this year than ever before.

Our society has not a very large roll—only seventy-five or eighty—but we stand for quality and not quantity; and we are confident of retaining the Furnell trophy as long as there is one.

We hope to enter our new hall about the first of November, and we cordially invite all the students to come out and rejoice with us. We always have good programs and can promise an enjoyable hour to all who love good music, good recitations, and good debates.

Word has just been received from the West Virginia University of the election of the Junior class officers. Of seven who were chosen three were Marshall College students and those three were Virginians. Thos. W. Fitzgerald, '05, was elected vice-president; Cyrus Van Bibber, '06, treasurer; and Miss Mae Sullivan, '06, historian.

Walter M. Parker, '02, '03, who last year received his A. B. degree from West Virginia University is a member of the Glenville State Normal School faculty.

Dwight Donaldson, '02 is Y. M. C. A. secretary at the Western Reserve University of Cleveland, Ohio. Last June Washington and Jefferson College awarded him his A. B. degree. Will Donaldson will graduate at W. and J. this year.

Erosophian Notes.

The first meeting of the Erosophian Literary Society for the fall term of 1907 was held Sept. 20th, and the following officers were installed: President, G. L. Hively; vice-president, R. C. Spangler; secretary, Sybil Ball; assistant secretary, Effie Corbly; treasurer, Robert Larew; critic, J. R. Davis; reporter, S. L. Patterson.

Thirty-five new, enthusiastic members have already filled the gap left in our roll by the seniors of last year, and from the way the work has started off we confidentially expect the most successful term's work in all our history.

Y. M. C. A.

A realization has at last come true, and we are now situated on the third floor in a hall that we can call our own.

Our association opens with flourishing prospects for a successful year. Besides the many old members who have returned, a large number of new ones have enrolled. Among the new members is a pianist, who is very helpful along musical lines.

On September twentieth a reception was given to new students. It consisted of addresses by our President, D. F. Moore, and Professor Fitzgerald, followed by a beauty contest and the serving of refreshments.

At our first regular meeting the Niagara Conference delegates gave their reports. The program was as follows: "Spirit of the Conference," D. F. Moore; "Foreign Missions," Robt. Larew; "Home Missions," R. C. Spangler; "Bible Study," W. H. Franklin; "Social Side of the Convention," M. F. Smith; and "What We Saw," L. B. Crotty.

On September twenty-ninth we were favored with an address by Rev. Mr. McCarthy, who will be our teacher of the normal class in Bible Study.

We contemplate having a large enrollment in Bible study this year. Five classes have already been organized.

Miss Inez Kinney, our district secretary, visited us from Saturday until Tuesday, Sept. 28-31, bringing many valuable plans and suggestions for the year's work.

On Saturday evening of enrollment week the association entertained the girls with a "left-hand party" in the College parlor. A cleverly arranged game gave each girl an opportunity of meeting every other one. Refreshments were served and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

The Bible study promises to be a strong feature this year. Four classes have been organized. Miss Cummings has a lecture course, and Misses Ball, White and Larew have charge of the others. These student teachers had the work last year under Dr. McCarthy who will supervise their courses this year.

On the afternoon of October 13, Dr. Karl G. Doney, president of the West Virginia Wesleyan College addressed the association on the subject, "The Religion of a Young Woman." He made his talk so attractive that the attention of everyone was held throughout. We appreciated the opportunity of hearing so forceful a speaker on this practical subject.

The Senior committee continues to hold secret sessions; the work of prosecution or execution goes on; and, in the meantime, we have palpitation, nightmare, and chills and fever.

After a delay of several weeks caused by trouble with his eyes, our president, J. R. Davis, is with us; and right glad we are to have him.

We have a great many things to say but think it best to keep them until we know where we are "at."

Zeta Rho Epsilon.

The Greek department begins

the school year with valuable additions to its number.

Mr. Shumate, '07, was a very welcome visitor in the Greek classes a few days ago.

Of those who went out last year we have heard from only a few. Mr. Koontz is a student at the Yale Law School. Mr. Denny is reported as a teacher in an Arkansas College. Mr. Hoover is teaching at Sutphin, W. Va. Mr. Lambert is teaching in Mingo county. Miss Canterbury is teaching near her home at Malden, W. Va. Miss Cox who was married during the summer to Mr. Kanode, formerly of Huntington, is living at Beckley, W. Va., and still remains our enthusiastic secretary and treasurer. Miss Foster is teaching at Hinton, W. Va. The Misses Rodes are teaching near their home in Fayette County. Miss Alvis is attending college in New England. Miss Tench is teaching at Bluefield. Miss Robinson is teaching.

Recently a Hellenist of last year called and left his dues for the year, and also his fee for a plate at the coming commencement banquet.

A gift to the department amounting to ten or fifteen dollars has been made by one of our former students. Announcement more in detail will be made in the next issue.

The Deutsche Gesellschaft.

Wednesday morning a meeting was called of the second and third year German students for the purpose of organizing a German club or deutsche Gesellschaft. Miss Stevenson acted as temporary chairman, and a committee was appointed to draft a constitution to be presented at a called meeting at the earliest convenience of the students. The committee to act in union with Miss Stevenson is Mr. Wakefield, Miss Donaldson, Miss Gosling and Mr. Reynolds. The place and time of first meeting is to be arranged by this committee. The members of the club will meet every two weeks, a German program will be given and German only will be spoken. A penny will be charged for every word spoken in the English language. The purpose of this club is to promote conversational use of the German language.

The Athletic Association.

The executive committee of the Athletic Association has adopted the following rules for their government:

1. No ringers will be played on athletic teams and no school team will be played which plays ringers.

2. All teams shall be composed of active members of the schools.

Players deficient in scholarship thus render themselves ineligible.

3. Any player indulging in intoxicants will be removed from the team.

4. Smoking is discouraged, though not absolutely forbidden.

5. The faculty is asked to carry out these provisions.

6. The manager shall keep his books open for the inspection of all interested.

The Athletic Association organized for the year, 1907-'08 in the second week of the school. The auditorium was filled with students enthusiastic for a successful and prosperous year. The leading address was made by Professor W. G. Vinal of the geology department. The following officers were elected:

President, H. Preston Tompkins; vice-president, C. C. Myer; secretary, W. A. Spruce; treasurer, G. D. Hively; football manager, G. D. Hively; Baseball Manager, L. B. Crotty.

The following statement signed by G. L. Hiveley, treasurer of the association was recently presented to the faculty. It is of interest to the entire school:

ation proposes to see that all material purchased or otherwise belonging to the Association shall be returned to the College at the end of this season, locked up and the President given a statement of the goods stored away. I submit this report to the faculty of Marshall College for their consideration. Any assistance you may give will be very gratefully appreciated by the association.

Football.

The first game of the season was played Oct. 12 between Marshall College and the Ashland Y. M. C. A. Although the score was 0-0 Marshall's team showed themselves to be superior to her opponents in several ways.

Several of our players never played their positions before, but displayed a reasonable degree of skill and judgment. This game has shown what is needed and given an insight into the future of the team. Success is awaiting the team if only they can do some systematic practice. The outlook at the beginning of the season was not so good but things seem more favorable now. Next Saturday Marshall plays Georgetown College at Georgetown. The boys expect to bring back to Marshall the laurels of victory.

J. BEN ROBINSON,
Captain Football Team.

The line-up was as follows.

M. C.		Ashland
Casto q. b.	Cooper
Bailey l. h.	Simon
Robinson r. h.	McGlinchyn
Moore full	Fox
Hively center	Koontz
T. Robinson r. g.	Cheap
Matthews l. g.	Basham
Vinal l. t.	Purdle
Patterson r. t.	Farlow
Hatfield l. e.	Bunch

Marshall 11; Georgetown 5.

Again Marshall College takes from Georgetown College a victory and more is it to be counted a victory because Georgetown has the strongest team in her history.

The representatives of the green and white played cool, steady ball which soon convinced the Kentucky boys that our fellows were master of the situation. Both offensive and defensive work was fine and was characterized by team work rather than brilliant individual starring.

It is very gratifying to see the advancement being made by the boys who have played but little. Robinson and McQueen as guards are doing good work as are Hively at center and Tompkins on end. Patterson is as usual worrying his opponent and advancing his colors; Bailey is a star and is starring any place the captain sees fit to play him. The Hatfield brothers are being praised on all sides for their vim and ginger. They are football men and are making good. Moore and Herring are playing fast ball and will make some of the boys hustle to hold their positions. Calloway, Sherry and Robinson were behind the line Saturday doing fine work. Their offense was heavy while in the defense they never permitted a man to get back to the quarter back. Casto as quarter is doing all kinds of brilliant work. His twenty-five yard run Saturday was a brilliant feature of the game. Calloway chalked up the first of M. C.'s scores for the season to his credit. Rolfe made the other on a McQueen.....e g..... Tudor forward pass by Robinson. Every Bailey.....l t.....Thomason thing looks favorable for an even Hatfield & more successful year than last.

THE HUSTLER

The Lecture Course.

An excellent course of attractions is offered this year by the lecture association. The numbers are as follows:

The Colonial Octette, Nov. 18.
Samuel P. Cadman, Dec. 11.
Roberson Lectures, Jan. 9.
Ed. Amherst Ott, Jan. 17.
Oriole Concert Co., March 4.
Ohio Male Quartette, March 27.
Opie Read, April 7.
Thos. Brooks Fletcher, April 14.

Of these Professor Ott has been here before. A few years ago he captivated a critical audience and carried it by storm. He is an unusual lecturer. Cadman was at Clyffeside Chautauqua last summer and all who heard him were immensely pleased. The writer heard Opie Read last winter before a University of Chicago audience. He is a master at story telling. The other members are new in Huntington but each attraction bids fair to be a great success. They are highly commended.

Mirabilia.

A few copies of The Mirabilia are left from last year. Copies may be purchased in the library or from L. B. Crotty. "The Mirabilia" is the year book for 1907, published by the class of 1908. They won for themselves great credit not only because they produced the first volume, but because they did it so well. This book contains pictures and write-ups of nearly everybody and everything of interest at Marshall.

Chapel Exercises.

The first chapel exercises of this session were held in the auditorium on Oct. 9. Rev. Mr. McCarthy of the First Congregational church conducted the services, the music being furnished by a student choir and Dr. and Mrs. Haworth. Rev. Mr. Gibson of Trinity Episcopal Church read the scripture lesson and offered the prayer at the services on Oct. 16.

The Senior Election.

Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the study hall the Senior class met for the transaction of business and chose the following officers:

President, Grover Hamilton.

Vice-President, R. C. Spangler.
Secretary, Florence Holliday.
Treasurer, C. C. Miller.
Reporter, Pearl Callaway.

Personal.

Miss Pearle Staley has enrolled from Pullman, Illinois.

E. L. Lively, '06, is again the principal of the schools at Friendly.

Miss Inez Corbly is again in school after a short visit to her home at Hurricane.

Miss Marion Green, of Evanston, Illinois, has accepted a position as grade teacher in the model department.

Miss Letitia Thomas, of New Haven, Connecticut, is probably further away from home than any other student.

Mrs. George W. Johnson, of Parkersburg, was a welcome visitor at Marshall last week. As Miss Mary McKendree she was for years one of this school's most devoted and enthusiastic teachers.

On September 4th, Miss Cora Hutchinson became Mrs. Delbert Elmer Cole. The marriage took place at her home at Meadowdale. They have been at Ravenswood since Sept. 20th. The Parthenon congratulates Mr. Cole and extends best wishes.

Miss Alberta Cox, '05 and Mr. Fred Stanley Kanode of Beckley, formerly of this city, were married Sept. 4th at the home of the bride in this city. Congratulations are hereby extended to Mr. Kanode. The Parthenon wishes the union may be a happy one.

McVea Buckner, '04, visited the college a few days before he left to resume his studies in the University of Pennsylvania Medical School at Philadelphia. Mr. Buckner will receive his degree next year. Another Marshall product, Jas. Lyons, '01, is pursuing medical studies at the same institution.

Miss Willa Hart Butcher, formerly instructor of rhetoric here, was a prominent visitor in the city during the past week. She is now at her home in Fairmont. She resigned her position in Fairmont's faculty to pursue her University studies. She expects to enter Radcliffe after Christmas.

President Corbly, the editor of this magazine, arrived home from a search for teachers just in time to find out this paper had gone to press. The next issue will contain some editorial from him. President Corbly secured the teachers after interviewing thirty applicants and everyone is pleased.

Judge Black, of Columbus, Ohio, an intimate friend of the renowned Judge Lindsey, of Denver's Juvenile Court, delivered an interesting and profitable lecture in the auditorium on last Thursday evening. It was given under the auspices of the Women's Literary Club. Judge Black was formerly mayor of Columbus.

Shortage of Teachers.

State Superintendent Miller in a circular of information just printed and received at this office calls attention to the interesting fact that there are over 1800 persons in West Virginia holding certificates of same class who are not employed. Yet there is a shortage of teachers. Supt. Miller says:

"From information received at this department there is a shortage of teachers in some sections of the state. At this I am not surprised, because the same shortage prevails in a number of states nearby, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Iowa. Material progress has taken some of our school workers from the ranks and given them more remunerative employment in other vocations and professions. In some of these states, particularly Ohio and Indiana, a very largely increased minimum salary has been fixed, which is hoped will tend to supply the shortage in the school room.

Our minimum is far too small.

"The schools not provided for in West Virginia are largely in the interior sections where salaries are low and where boarding places and other conditions are not so inviting. It is true that the youth of these communities deserve the very best instructors that can be secured, but local conditions, of course, largely control in these matters. The district that is paying $60, $55 and $40, respectively, for first, second, and third grade certificates will naturally claim the services of the better class of teachers over the district that pays only the minimum salary of $35, $30 and $25. This comparison is not at all extreme, because there are a number of places in the state, and, in a few instances in the same county, where the variation is as great as given above. However, if all who hold certificates were engaged in the work every school in the state would be supplied and there would be nearly two thousand teachers unemployed."

College Hall.

New girls! The hall is full of them. They are necessary to the life of the school.

Miss May Cokely was called to her home at Harrisville last week because of the serious illness of a brother.

The latest addition to our family is Miss Marion Green, the new model teacher. She comes from Illinois.

The Misses Holswade had with them on Sunday their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Holswade, of Spencer, and their brother, Carl, of Clendenin.

In consequence of the Methodist Conference and the K. of P. conclave which were held in the city the past week, there have been many pleasant callers received at the hall.

Saturday, October 12, the girls were given an afternoon outing at Camden Park. Mrs. Kearns, the new matron, provided a dainty lunch for the occasion. All returned tired and happy.

A very commendable feature of the "Saturday evenings" this fall is the entertainment provided by the social committee. It means a pleasant time for everyone. No "specializing" is allowed.

Not Now, But Once.

Ten years ago the writer re-entered Marshall College to spend a year after graduation. None of the new building was then there, the part next to it was the new building, nor was this connected with College hall. College hall was not yet remodeled. In those days the college parlor was the west half of the present parlor; the principal's rooms were a suite out of which rooms C and D first floor were later made; the study hall was rooms No. 23 and 24; the library was room No. 36 and that seemed big enough then. The old auditorium was not yet completed. Principal Corbly was beginning his second year, Mrs. Everett had just been inaugurated as first assistant and the other teachers were Miss Hackney, Miss Mary McKendree (now Mrs. Geo. W. Johnson, of Parkersburg), Miss Cora Lee Trice (deceased) and Miss Mabel S. Brown of Wheeling. The Senior Class had 12 members. There was but one literary society—the Virginian, which met in the study hall. There had therefore been no inter society contests. A football game or a baseball game with a college team was something not mentioned, not even dreamed of. There was no Y. W. C. A. and no Y. M. C. A. There was no art department, no voice teacher, and but one piano teacher. The Model School was in its infancy under Miss Brown. There were just a few girls in College Hall and clubs among the boys

Young Ladies

Do not go to college simply to learn what is in the text books—they could read those at home.

At college they expect to mix, to keep their eyes open, to see how refined young ladies should dress and talk and act. If a college does not give one polish and ease of bearing it has failed in one of its chief purposes.

The hardest problem before any young lady is how to dress most becomingly. There is one solution to a question of this kind that is easy for those who are in this city. Go to the Valentine store and you will find there not only garments that are suited to your person but equally well suited to any purse.

Expensive suits and wraps are not necessary to being well dressed. The charm of dressing is in the adaptability of the gown to the wearer. Mr. Valentine has only bought such garments as are absolutely late in style and the young ladies who comprise his selling force have had years of experience in helping persons to purchase just the appropriate thing.

Call at the store any afternoon and ask to be shown through the line. Remember it is the Colonial building on Fourth avenue, the new store, just opposite the Hotel Frederick entrance.

were unknown. Fourth avenue series of lectures during the meeting of the Baptist General Association of West Virginia last week had but few houses east of 14th St.; Fifth had none east of Thirteenth and Sixth hadn't many east of 14th St. Just a few houses had been built opposite the College on Third avenue, the remainder of that tract was a field and a wooded ravine. There students went in warm weather to swing in an old grapevine swing and when winter came there was skating for an attraction. To the south a corn field stretched across to the C. & O. Railway except for the streets and the residence of Mrs. Parsons on Sixth avenue.

That year saw many changes among them a new dormitory, the Erosophian Literary Society, the Inter-Society contests, etc. How long would it take to name the changes which the decade has produced! Improvements everywhere!

Dr. Francis Here.

Dr. James A. Francis the great preacher and expositor of the Bible who was in Huntington giving a series of lectures during the meeting of the Baptist General Association of West Virginia last week delivered two of his talks at Marshall College. The first was on Sunday afternoon to the Y. M. C. A. Then again Monday morning at ten o'clock he addressed the entire body of students and faculty in the auditorium. His subject was "Character Building."

Visitors.

A delegation of teachers from Hinton, Misses Whitman, Smith and Peck, visited the College on the 16th, for the purpose of observing the work of the model school. They were very welcome and appeared to enjoy the visit so well that they suggested sending another delegation later.

Miss Betty Alderson, of Clifton Forge, was a visitor on the 21st. Her purpose was especially to inspect the methods used in the lower grades. Miss Alderson is an old friend and is always welcome.

Shut one eye and then look at some small object; then shut the other eye and see if your eyes are just alike. If they are not, they should be made alike with proper glasses before the weak one becomes weaker through disease.

We examine eyes so carefully that even the slightest difference between them is detected, and corrected, making vision equal.

College Suits for College Men

It is absurd to think a young man can wear a suit modeled upon the same lines as one made for his father or older brother. You would no more expect it than you would expect to see a young lady wear the dresses made for her old maid aunt.

Our suits for young men—College Brand Suits—are modeled especially for them. They're snappy, right up to the minute, and excel in all the little details so dear to the heart of the average young man.

College Brand Suits sell for $15.00 to $30.00 each.
